"The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards." – Anatole France

The past two years has turned life, as we know it, upside down. While social interaction dwindled, dependence on mechanical gizmos and gadgets increased. Fortunately there was light at the end of the tunnel. The academic year 2022- 2023 started off bright and optimistic. The happy and excited faces of the children as they returned to school filled our hearts with gratitude. Albeit the children did quickly adapt to the school routine, the challenges of hyperactivity and hesitation to interact with peers had to be tackled. There is a lesson one can learn from this whole experience.

Dr. Parul Kumar

For children to become versatile and adaptable it requires a coordinated and synchronised effort from parents, teachers and peers. Weaning children away from their gadgets though challenging is mandatory. They need to explore the wonder that is nature.

We at Navy Children School believe in giving our children the best experiences to learn and grow. It is now time to re-awaken their curious young minds and guide them towards satisfying their curiosity in the best possible way, without the use of electronic devices.

As the inaugural issue of this magazine releases let us all pledge to continue to make our children become the best possible versions of themselves.

Jai Hind!

Headmistress Writes

"The beginning is the most important part of the work." – Plato

The Academic Year 2022-23 started with warm energy and enthusiasm. As Team NCS eagerly welcomed our little ones back to school after a long time. The teachers' exuberance and dedication ensured that the students settled safely into the routine of the school.

Mrs. Anuradha Mago

The classrooms are filled with joy and sparkle. Our team began the task of initiating the students back into the academic and co-curricular activities of the school without compromising their safety. Life skills, morals, values, and discipline are what we stress. The curious eye of the students was met with patience, love and knowledge.

The teething issues faced in the early phase of re-opening were amicably resolved by the tripartite dedicated involvement of our staff, ever supporting parents and management. A plethora of activities was conducted during this quarter, a glimpse of which you will find in the following pages.

We continue to march on the path of holistic development of our children and work towards providing them with the best of everything.

Together we will create magic.

Warm Regards

Anuradha Mago
